Computer Network Administrator

> We are continuing to look for the right candidate to fill an IT position at ATA Engineering (www.ata-e.com). That person would have 2-5 years of IT experience, though that could certainly be in the military, and would have specific experience in Linux system administration since all our computer infrastructure with the exception of the computers on our desks run Linux (Redhat Enterprise or CentOS). We’re looking right now so if you have such a candidate we’d be very interested and I think that we can provide him/her with an excellent career opportunity and working environment. If you know of someone and could pass their resume on that would be fantastic. Also, if there’s a location that we can post a job description that would be great as well.
